Porter Assembled Airplanes at Big Station in France

Paul C. Porter, who began his attempts as an instructor in the high school this week, has had some interesting experiences in military life in France, even though he did not have the privilege of seeing the actual battle. He attended the first officer's training camp at Fort Logan H. Rains, Arkansas, in 1917. Receiving a commission, he was assigned to Austin, where he received six weeks' training in the ground work for aviation.

Then Mr. Porter was sent to France, where he remained 15 months, leaving there February 5 and arriving in America, February 21. He was discharged only two weeks ago. He received training at Tours and Bourges in France. Later he was assigned to Remicourt, the chief assembling plant for American airplanes overseas. His duty was to test out airplanes, seeing that they flew properly and then take them to the front for fighting purposes.

Slight Increase in

Enrollment Made in Four Ward Schools

Reports received from the ward schools for the first month of the school semester show a slight increase in enrollment, said W. D. Nettler, superintendent of schools yesterday. David Hirsch school had 237 against 230 for the last month of the first term. This is the largest number who have attended that school during the last two months.

Bonney Evans school now has 222 in comparison with 224 during the last month of the first term. Edward Farnum senior shows a decrease of 10 pupils, having 264 now, compared to 274 a month ago.

Mr. Nettler believes that these attendance records are encouraging since it is considered that the pupils have attended the 100 days as required since school began.

The new school year begins April 28, compared with April 28 a month ago.

Larger Attendance at Baptist Church Revival Services

An increased attendance and interest marked both the regular services and the prayer services held yesterday at the First Baptist Church, where the revival services are being conducted by Pastor Rev. Helen B. Carroll, with Dr. Charles E. Mandry, of Austin, occupying the pulpit at both the morning service at 10:30 o'clock and the evening service at 7:30 o'clock.

Lists are being compiled from the pay rolls of the county and the city for electioneering purposes in the City campaign.

Mrs. A. C. Fallon received a telegram from her husband, Major Leo Fallon, who is at Camp Humphreys, Va., with the Fifth Engineers, stating that he is ill. He is expected to shortly receive his discharge.

F. B. Tarrall is in receipt of a message from his son, Sergeant Leo Tarrall, who is in a Virginia camp having returned from overseas with a coast artillery company.

The prayer services are announced for 7 o'clock in the evening at the church, when four different ones will be conducted, and the children's prayer service is announced for 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. At this hour Mr. Reynolds will train the juvenile choir.

Dr. Mandry announced his subject for the ten o'clock service this morning to be "The Power of Surrendering Life."

He chose for his subject last night "The Church and the Changing Order," and he immediately referred to the question being so often asked now, "Will the church be able to meet the new and changed conditions?"

Dr. Mandry reviewed briefly the problems and opportunities of the church as they exist today. On account of having bought and sold and divided for a common cause the nations of the earth today stand closer together than ever before. In thought and purpose and in a common need, he said. He characterized the present age as a plastic age on account of an accessible world, showing the opportunity the church enjoys today, as never before. He gave as the only remedy for the ills of this world today the Gospel of the Son of God, the same yesterday, today and tomorrow. He bids the power of the Gospel as effectively today as in any age of the world.

He spoke interestingly of the tendency today to minimize sin, declared by some to be only error.

In life's extreme and trying hours nothing will suffice or take the place of Christ in the hearts and lives of men," he said.

Major H. H. McMurtre, commanding at the hospital, yesterday received a telegram instructing him not to take any steps toward dismantling the property.
